IMPROVED R. R. CATTLE GATE. - We have been hown by the inventor Mr. Moses Hall, Jr., of Osborn, Green County, a model of an improved Cattle Guard, or Gate, which he has just had patented. The gate is upright, and is attached to timbers under the rails on either side of crossings, and the ends work loosely in pivot A spring is attached to each end of the gate on both sides, and passes several feet long the in side of the rail, and is secured in a greove (through which it works easily,) to a tie. A soon as the flanges of the locomotive wheels strike the spring the gate will fall flat, and remain so until the last wheel of the rear car has passed the place, when the gate will instantly resume its erect position, and effectually keep all kinds of stock from passing inside the enclosure. The spring cannot be depressed by a tess weight than a hand car, weighing from 800 to 1200 pounds, and of course the gate cannot be pushed down by cattle.
